Transportation; William L. Eisele, co-ordinator of Illinois Civil Defense; Don Hastings, seated, and partially hidden, of the Department of Conservation, and Sgt. Jim Stever of the Illinois State Police. A similar communications and command post has been set up by the Illinois State Police at Grafton.

River Crests, Begins Drop

While the serious threat of flooding on Chouteau Island diminished this weekend as the Mississippi River level began to drop, island residents continued to man the levees today, guarding against a break due to water pressure and high winds.

Less than 20 volunteers were reported on the island today despite the fact that the levees remain saturated and boats continue to develop where water seeps through the levee and threatens to cause it to drift to shift.

Concern during the weekend centered primarily on a 75-foot stretch of the levee near the old slough mouth at the southwest corner of the island, where numerous holes developed. Plastic covers, snow fence and sandbags were used to strengthen the levee where the holes were developing.

Although the river crested at 29.84 feet at 7 p.m. Thursday, lower than was anticipated, a rise in the river was noted this morning from more than an inch of rain overnight north of here.

The river had fallen to 38.3 feet by 8 this morning, but rose again to 38.5 feet by 10:30 a.m. Corps of Engineers officials reported it was continuing to rise. Revised forecasts on the river stages were to be issued this afternoon.

The 15 to 20 workers on the island today were a marked change from the nearly 800 persons the Salvation Army estimates it fed during one meal last week. The SA mobile canteen was withdrawn from the area yesterday.

Members of the Granite City Egyptian Radio Club have been providing emergency communications at various flood sites along the Mississippi River, including the Chouteau Island area, Charles Delp, a club member, said today.

Gabriel Gancheff, a local pharmacist, arranged for free first aid supplies to be made available at the Chouteau Island levee, where hundreds of volunteers have worked around the clock for the past 10 days.

he would have to evaluate the revised river prediction this afternoon before making a determination whether to resume operations.

"We will have to have crews come in and take down equipment we have put up as flood protection so I do not think we could be in operation before Wednesday," he said.

The locks closed Tuesday for the first time in its history and went on full flood alert. A special dam was constructed to stop current in the Chain of Rocks Canal.

The St. Clair Levee District has asked Gov. Daniel Walker to declare the East Side area a disaster area because of the flood damage. Although no local damage estimates have been made, the Chouteau Island area, Charles Delp, a club member, said today.

Gabriel Gancheff, a local pharmacist, arranged for free first aid supplies to be made available at the Chouteau Island levee, where hundreds of volunteers have worked around the clock for the past 10 days.

The Chain of Rocks Canal Locks remained closed today even though the river was at a stage where boats could be safely locked through, Howard Keeney, lockmaster, explained.

Schuler to Take Oath as Mayor in April 16 Meet

Paul Schuler, newly elected mayor of Granite City, will take the oath of office during the regular City Council meeting April 16, immediately following the official vote canvass by council members.

The mayor-elect, who defeated incumbent Mayor Donald Partney by a nearly two-to-one vote of 7,628 to 4,015, is scheduled to take office May 1, beginning of the city's fiscal year.

City Clerk Robert Stevens said the City Council will canvass the April 3 vote returns during the regular April 16 meeting instead of calling a special meeting for that purpose.

There were unconfirmed rumors in political circles today that Schuler could take over the mayor's office prior to the usual date if Partney relinquishes the office early.

Such reports apparently were based on statements attributed to the mayor's last week in which he reportedly said "I'm moving out. Let them have it."

At the same time, however, Partney said he would continue to conduct city business, and that he will be "in and out" of the city hall during the next two weeks.

The City Council will have two more meetings before the end of the fiscal year—on April 16 and April 23.

Schuler said today that he will announce later his appointments to city offices.

Five Agree to Resign from Board of Bi-State Agency

The Bi-State Development Agency, whose ten commissioners govern the Granite City Wharf, Bi-State Transit System, Parks Airport and Gateway Arch transportation, will undergo a major shakeup this year.

"Under the gun" because the bus system is in danger of running out of money to operate, the five Missouri board members agreed Sunday to depart from the agency on a staggered basis, the last resigning as of Oct. 31.

Missouri Governor Christopher Bond already has appointed William E. Douthitt, Mrs. Jackie Phillips, Macler C. Shepard, Ferguson Mayor John G. Brawley and Edwin B. Meisner to replace Morton R. Bearman, Leo Flotron, L. Owen Funderburg, Memo Roberts Jr. and Guy Roper.

Bond and the Missouri commissioners had been in disagreement since Feb. 16 when they refused a request to step down as part of a plan to provide financial aid for the bus system.

When he named replacements, they said he could not legally remove them. Yesterday, Bond and the five reached a compromise under which they will resign during a six-month period.

Funderburg said the five still think they do not have to resign but agreed to do so to avoid damaging the public transit program through a long court dispute.

Two will depart April 30, one May 30, one Aug. 31 and one Oct. 31. Bond meanwhile will revoke his executive order seeking their immediate removal.

The new commissioners will serve on the bus system and attend all meetings during the transition period.

The agreement enables Bi-State to receive funds held by the St. Louis County Municipal League pending the resignations. Cities have pledged PONTOON POLITICAL SIGN failed to last out the campaign when struck by an auto which crossed the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Hays, 9 Eastgate Drive, Lakeview Estates. The picture was taken Saturday morning. A People in Action Party spokesman said, "It is difficult to understand why other political signs in Pontoon Beach can remain undamaged for a month, but less than 12 hours after our signs were posted one was ruined by white paint and the other by a car." The Village Improvement Party on Thursday offered a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone damaging the signs of either party.

Courts Open Again

It was back to business for the Madison County court system this morning after a one-week cessation last week ordered by Chief Circuit Judge Fred P. Schuman, who had ruled that the Madison County Board was failing to provide adequate space.

Under a plan approved Friday by the Building and Finance Committees, the county will rent a building at 111 N. Second St. across from the courthouse in Edwardsville, in addition to a March 30 plan to rent two floors of a former bank building across Purcell St. from the courthouse.

The family court, a judge's chambers and a jury deliberation room are to be located on the fourth floor of the courthouse.

The state's attorney and public defender are to move from the third floor of the courthouse to the bank building.

The present office of the state's attorney is to be used for a jury courtroom, with the public defender's office converted to the delinquent tax office.

The probate court will move into the delinquent tax office on the second floor of the courthouse.

And a jury courtroom, judge's chambers, grand jury room and juror assembly room will be established in the 117 N. Second building, which formerly housed a catalog store.

4 Youths Take $19 From GC Newsboy

A 13-year-old newspaper delivery boy was strongarmed by a group of four other boys who stole $19 in coins and currency at 9:25 p.m. Saturday.

Clem Flannigan, 2804 Palmer Ave., said he and a 12-year-old friend were walking in the 2500 block of Nameoki Road, returning home from his newspaper route, when the incident occurred.

The Flannigan youth said the foursome stopped he and his friend, pushed them around and struck them before taking his collection receipts.

for the Second St. structure could be broken if other questions make it unnecessary, J. J. Gramlich, finance chairman, said Friday. If the building is remodeled, proposed rent will be $675 instead of $475.

Hays' Malory, a committee member, dissented in the vote on the state rental plan and urged purchase of the entire former bank.

The County Board on April 18 will be asked to appropriate $6,000 to rent the two bank floors, $3,000 to modify that space, $10,000 to remodel vacated courthouse offices, $5,200 to rent the former store and $10,000 for furniture.

2 Men Take $60 From Pontoon Drug Store

Two men stole $60 from the cash register at Key Rexall Drugs in the Pontoon Plaza Shopping Center in Pontoon Beach at 4:20 p.m. Friday.

The men entered the store and one made a small purchase. While the clerk had the register drawer open, the other man asked her for an ink pen. She turned around to get the pen and then completed the transaction with the first man.

After the two left, a young boy in the store reported he saw one of the men take money from the drawer while the clerk had her back turned. A check showed that $60 had been stolen.

Fire Damages Fishing Store on Route 162

Fire early this morning caused several hundred dollars' damage to Fisherman's Cove, a bait and fishing supply shop on Route 162 about one-half mile west of the Granite City Collinsville Road.

Long Lake volunteer firemen were called to the scene at 12:30 a.m. today to fight the flames which broke out in the center of the front room. Heat from the fire melted many of the fishing supplies in the store.

Cause of the fire is unknown. Firefighters were on the scene about one hour.

Man Wounded Fatally In Tavern Shooting

Harry Dale Johnson, 37, of South Roxana, who also had an address in Madison, was shot fatally at 11:05 p.m. Sunday at the Curve Inn Tavern, 2618 Missouri Ave.

One man was taken into custody by Madison County sheriff's deputies but he was released later without charge on orders of the office of the state's attorney.

Chief investigator Bob Rissi of the sheriff's department said the shooting may have been in self defense as witnesses said that Johnson first pulled a gun which proved to be a chrome plated blank pistol.

Rissi said investigators are questioning witnesses today as details were unavailable last night during the confusion of the incident. He said the bartender was hysterical and a patron was incomprehensible.

Johnson was shot with a .38 caliber revolver with the bullet hitting his left chest and exiting below the right shoulder blade.

An inquest is to be conducted. Mr. Johnson was born in Granite City. He had been employed as a first mate with a barge line company for five years.

He belonged to Eagles Lodge 545 of East St. Louis.

Survivors include his parents; Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Johnson of Gillespie; three brothers, Gale Johnson of South Roxana, and Melvin and Roy Johnson, both of Tucson, Ariz.; two sisters, Misses Lucina and Denise Johnson of Gillespie; three daughters, Donna Sue, Martha Ann and Dalene Carleen Johnson; one son, Russell Dean Johnson.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

OUT OF BUSINESS until high water subsides, the Bulk Service Corp. facilities at the Tri-City Regional Port were among the areas flooded in the Chain of Rocks Canal last week and during the weekend. Even railroad tracks were submerged and the water engine, and several tank cars were abandoned in the water farther to the north. The photo was taken Friday.

2 Face Charges of Marijuana Possession

Bradley Reinhardt, 20, of 2123 Washington Ave., and Alan Ammann, 21, of 204 Glen Drive, were arrested at 1:25 a.m. Friday and charged with possession of cannabis.

Granite City police tried to stop Ammann's auto at 16th Street and Madison Avenue because a rear tail light was not operating. Officers alleged Ammann failed to stop the car despite operating red lights and a siren on the squad car.

In the 2700 block of Madison Avenue, two packets were thrown out of the passenger side window of the moving car, police charged.

One police car stopped Ammann's auto at 23rd Street and Washington Avenue while officers in another unit recovered the packets thrown from the car.

Tests showed the substance in the packets was marijuana, officers said.

Ammann also was charged with having an inoperative tail light.

400 Illinois Park Jobs for Veterans And Others in '73

More than 400 summer jobs in state parks, memorials and conservation areas will be offered by the Illinois Department of Conservation, with veterans having first preference, particularly veterans of the Vietnam War, Anthony T. Dean, department director, announced Tuesday.

"A policy of veterans' preference has always applied to full-time employment in the department," Dean said. "We are extending this policy to include temporary positions."

"I am hopeful these summer positions will be helpful to veterans looking for employment between school terms, or who seek temporary employment prior to reaching a career decision."

"Hopefully, many will consider careers in the Department of Conservation."

Positions are open throughout the state and, in most cases, consist of park interpretation and maintenance work. In addition to the salary, these jobs offer valuable training and experience in park maintenance and management.

"The department and the citizens of Illinois will benefit if we can attract these able young men to this important area of public service," Dean said.

Applications may be made by telephoning the Division of Parks and Memorials (217-525-6752) to arrange an interview in Springfield or at one of several interview locations throughout the state.

IN FLOOD POSITION, the gates guarding the Chain of Rocks Canal Locks were set last week and during the weekend at full height to stop current in the canal and to keep the high water from topping the unit. The gates were at full height and the normal top was tilted upward to provide protection against an additional seven feet of water. The precautions proved unnecessary as the level of the Mississippi River and the canal crested and began receding Thursday night.

NEW COAL CHARGING SYSTEM at Granite City Steel Co. Work is progressing rapidly on the new system, which will reduce smoke emissions from the company's coke ovens. The main element of the new charging system, considered to be the most advanced in the world; is an automatic charging car. As shown here, the new charging car (left) dwarfs the old manually-operated car (right) that it will soon replace. The new car features magnetic lid lifters to assure prompt sealing of the ovens after charging. It also creates a seal, resulting in a suction force said to greatly reduce the amount of smoke that can escape from the ovens.

The first full-scale charging car of its kind to go in service anywhere in the world, it will serve all three GC Steel coke oven batteries. Coke is the fuel used to reduce iron ore to molten pig iron in blast furnaces; it is produced by the controlled heating of blends of low-sulfur coal in long, narrow ovens without enough air present for the coal to burn.

Coal is "charged" into the ovens via the funnel-shaped hoppers on the charging cars.

Water Hampers Park Camping

Copley News Service Springfield—Camping enthusiasts who plan on a rustic outing in state park facilities soon are being urged to phone ahead for information, and be prepared to hang up if a fish awers.

Entire parks and boat launching areas in the state are presently under water while sections of others are closed, or else access roads are under water, according to state conservation department.

Information is still coming in, according to Gary Thomas in the department's public information section, but the partial listing shows that Delabar, Pere Marquette, Prophetstown and Lincoln Salt Creek state parks, the Horseshoe Lake conservation area near Cairo and Ft. Defiance state park are closed entirely.

Only limited camping is still continuing at Palisades State Park, Starved Rock state park and Ft. Massac. The campground is closed at Illini State Park, though some recreation are still open. Camping and recreation areas at Starved Rock are closed, but the upper areas of the park are still open for use. Stratton State Park, primarily a boat launch area, is entirely submerged, Thomas said. Nearly all the parks experiencing flooding will be closed for most of April, even if the water stops and the rivers fall, according to Glenn Harper in

State Tour Has Goal of Shifting More to Direct Care of Patients

By REG ANKROM

Copley News Service

Springfield—Top officials of the Department of Mental Health have scheduled a six-week tour of the state's mental health institutions which they say will determine the direction of the department for the next four years.

Al Ronan, deputy director of the department, said on-site studies will be made at each of the state's 26 mental health facilities. Ronan will be making the trip along with the director, Dr. LeRoy Levitt, and department budget analysts.

Accompanying the department information division, since it will take about three weeks for the areas to dry out enough to be used again.

To aid other law enforcement personnel in rescue operations and in patrolling for law violators and looters, the department has assigned 28 law enforcement officers to flood duty around the state.

In addition to urging anyone interested in camping during the coming weeks to call ahead, if any stream or river runs near the campground they favor, the department is also warning sightseers for their own protection to stay out of flooded areas, including backwaters.

In many cases, Thomas said, water may be just at the door of a home or cottage, and the 12 to 14 inches of water thrown up by a passing sightseer's boat is enough to put water into the house.

Any boater whose boat causes damage is liable for it, Thomas said.

Such a boat operator can be arrested if observed and if his boat registration number is reported.

Hearings This Week On Pension Reform

Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has disclosed additional information about the public hearings on pension reform he originally announced earlier in March.

The hearings will be held by the General Subcommittee on Labor at 10 a.m. on Thursday and Friday in Room 1612 Federal Building, 1520 Market Street, St. Louis.

The hearings will focus on legislation pending in Congress to impose stiffer responsibilities on plan fiduciaries, require full reporting and disclosure, institute full vesting after 10 years of employment, establish minimum funding standards, provide for pension credit portability, and insure plan benefits against loss by termination. The hearings are open to the public.

ment staff will be officials of the Bureau of the Budget.

The review could signal shifts of personnel at the various institutions. Ronan said the team will be evaluating staffing levels as well as priorities and programs.

"At many institutions it will mean shifting people (employees) to direct patient care," Ronan said.

He indicated the team will be taking close looks at administrative, clerical, and supervisory positions "that aren't necessary in view of the priority of getting people working with patients."

Ronan called the upcoming trip a general operations review which would cover staff planning and existing programs, contracts, equipment needs and administration.

The study, which will begin this week, is expected to be completed by the end of May. "We're concerned with getting a thorough overview of the Department of Mental Health," said Ronan, "and with this kind of analysis we can determine what direction the department is going to go in the next four years."

Tired Feet, Happy Hearts Shown By 1,000 Plus in Walkathon Event

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Sunday was a pretty good day for a walk, at least some 1,000 people believed as the March of Dimes Walkathon got underway at 1:10 p.m. yesterday near Wilson Park to the Venice Recreation Center on Broadway and back again.

Cook said more than 2,500 Walkathon kits were distributed in Granite City alone and the total number of those participating and the amount they will collect to aid the fight against birth defects—the primary target of March of Dimes funds—will not be known until late this week.

The project coordinators urged Walkathon members to collect donations from sponsors this week, sealing the funds in an envelope marked March of Dimes Walkathon, Granite City, and placing the envelope in the night depository at American National Bank, Fehling and Johnson roads.

Those taking part were alerted in advance donations from individual sponsors, who agreed to pay a specific amount the walker achieved per mile.

Cards were validated at four checkpoints enroute to be shown to sponsors as proof of participation and how many miles the individual accomplished. Cook said. Refreshments also were furnished at each of the four locations.

Blazing a trail for the entrants were six track athletes from Granite City High School. The Warrior trackmen, organized by Howie Bryant, GCHS star runner, covered the distance in less than one hour, in-climbing stopovers at the checkpoints enroute.

At an appreciation dinner, to be hosted by the Madison County March of Dimes Committee, set May 15 at the Madison Memorial Center, two top awards will be presented.

A wristwatch donated by Friedman Furniture of Madison and a radio from Sterling TV and Appliance Co., also of Madison will be presented to the person who obtained the most sponsors for the Walkathon and the individual collecting the most funds per mile, Cook said.

Several gifts were awarded at the conclusion of Sunday's walk to persons crossing the finish line ahead of the main body of walkers.

Top prize—a $25 U. S. Savings Bond—was presented to Steve McCuskey who completed the 10-mile distance first.

A portable radio was earned by Dwayne Kelly and Herbert Keller received a "dinner for two" at Charlie's Restaurant for finishing third.

Other gifts, including a radio from Radio Shack, and "dinners for two" at Ravello's, International House of Pancakes and Bill Barnes Cafeteria were presented to Mark Voegel, Roy Wilkred, Randy Basore and Ronnie Barnett.

Mercer's Ambulance Service patrolled the Walkathon route and officers in squad cars from the Granite City, Madison and Venice police departments provided escort service at various points.

"The police certainly did a tremendous job for us," Cook said this morning. Several groups of volunteers furnished refreshments at the checkpoints, he added.

As a followup to the Walkathon, Cook commented, "I have a pile of 'lost' clothing belonging to those who participated, including about 10 coats."

Anyone wishing to claim a garment, most of which were left in the Wilson Park area, is asked to contact Cook at Granite City High School.

Only a Few Things Are Certain But Income Tax Deadline Next Monday Is One of Them

A lot of pencil-pushing, ledger-breaking and paper-tearing will be taking place this week throughout the Springfield District as thousands of taxpayers rush to get their tax returns in the mail before the deadline of midnight Monday, April 16.

"This is not unusual," Leon C. Green, district director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois, said, "because experience has shown that nearly one-fourth of the total number of taxpayers wait until the last week of the filing period to file their returns."

"Undoubtedly, many taxpayers put off working on their returns until the last minute, but a far greater number prepare their return earlier and when 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 14; and from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. on April 16.

Taxpayers who need help in preparing their returns may obtain assistance by telephoning or visiting the nearest IRS office.

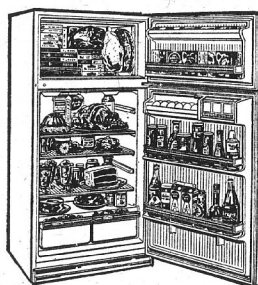

Green said, "Our assistants will be on duty to help prepare returns for taxpayers who feel they need it." He reminded those taxpayers needing assistance to have available their tax forms and pertinent records.

The SCHERMER BULLETIN

Little things that make your day in the Supermarket business. Last week a young lady with baby in hand (smart young housewives always shop Schermers) called to report that somehow she either failed to pick up her change ($8.00) or distracted the checker with the new baby so that the checker failed to give it to her. At any rate, she was $8.00 short. We assured her that when the register was checked out, it should be $8.00 over. Sure enough, we checked the register and found the money. Now to the punch line of the story. She came in to pick up the money and as Herman was walking to the parking lot, he asked her if she had indeed picked up her money in the office. She replied, "Yes, and I wish to thank you. YOU KNOW I ALWAYS HEARD YOU GUYS WERE HONEST." That made our day.

Incidentally, we do notice a lot of young marrieds starting to shop in our store. Evidently, the good word gets around quick. We love to see these new families. We now have great grandchildren of our fathers customers shopping with us. It's our 70th year in '73 and late this year we will have a real big celebration.

For those of you who were looking for more of those double knits in the big men's sizes, we will have them Wednesday. Sizes 40 thru 56 at $6.99 and this time they are all firsts, although the seconds that we had last time were really OK.

"The best place to borrow $2,000... is where I borrowed $2,000,000."

Where's the best place to get your personal loan? Where a businessman goes for a big loan for his company. We make loans to some of America's largest companies. Millions of dollars at a time. For things like cargo ships. New factories. Power stations. But for all the millions we lend to business, we lend just as much to people like you. Because we feel the reasons you need money are as important as the reasons a big company needs money.

Need cash to pay off bills? To take a vacation? To meet some emergency? Come see us. The people who understand all kinds of money problems. Commercial Credit.

Illinois, China Getting Together on Hogs and Trade

The first American hogs ever donated to the Chinese government have been officially accepted from the Illinois Department of Agriculture for breeding research, Robert J. "Bud" Williams, department director, said Friday.

China is the number one hog producing nation in the world. Williams explained that the donation is intended to stimulate an interest by the Chinese in the possible introduction of a different quality breeding animal into the Chinese animal husbandry program.

"This is an historic moment for United States and Illinois agriculture and the great pork industry of this state and the nation," Williams commented.

"The interest the Chinese are expressing by their acceptance of this breeding stock might mean a future trade agreement between them and Illinois farmers."

The five hogs—two Hampshire and three Durocs—were part of a total of nine swine shipped to the Kadocore Research Farm in Hong Kong in January by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with Illinois Produce International, a marketing service of the Illinois Agricultural Association. Arrangements for the donation were made by William Liou of Whampoa, Far East agricultural marketing director, Illinois Department of Agriculture, headquartered in Hong Kong.

The hogs were transported into China by the Chinese Travel Service, where they were accepted by Chinese trade officials.

The swine were donated by Roy Brothers, St. Charles; Ivan Miller, Nokomis; Ralph Spencer, Gillespie; LaVern Spencer and Sons, Dwight; and Illinois Produce International.

For the first time in history, a U. S. state government agency—the Illinois Department of Agriculture—will have a representative at the prestigious Canton Trade Fair on Mainland China.

Williams made the announcement Thursday during the annual Illinois agriculture legislative breakfast in Springfield. The trade fair will be held April 15-May 15.

"Hundreds of other U. S. firms have been unsuccessfully trying to gain admission to the trade fair and Illinois will be the only governmental body represented," Williams said.

He continued: "Attendance at the fair offers a great trade potential for Illinois, the number one agricultural exporting state in the nation, and for all of its state farmers. Most, if not all, trade transactions in China take place at the fair."

"Arrangements are being made with the close cooperation of the Illinois Department of Agriculture and the Illinois Agricultural Association to exhibit this state's agricultural commodities at the fair, along with a great deal of information concerning Illinois farming."

Liou will be representing the department.

Following the fair, Liou will return to Springfield to brief Gov. Dan Walker and state agricultural officials on future agricultural trade with China.

Williams said the state department of agriculture was also able to obtain an invitation for the Illinois Agricultural Association, which will be represented by its director of foreign trade, Dwight Davies.

Report in June May Lead to New Approach to Bankruptcy Problem

After 25 years of dramatic increases, both consumer and business bankruptcies declined in 1972 to the lowest levels since 1965.

Consumer bankruptcy petitions—which accounted for 90% of the 182,849 total U.S. filings in 1972—were down by 8.6% from 1971, and business bankruptcies were down by 5% from 1971, according to a newly-completed survey by a Minnesota firm.

By number, 164,773 consumers and 18,132 businesses filed bankruptcy last year. Both figures are down from 1971, which was the second highest year of bankruptcies in the 75-year history of the present U.S. bankruptcy system.

In 1971, a total of 182,240 consumers and a record 19,106 businesses filed bankruptcy. That was the year that year's total past the 200,000 mark—an after-shock of the 1970 recession.

The peak year for bankruptcies came in 1967 when 206,329 bankruptcy petitions were filed and an all-time high of 191,729 consumers went to the bankruptcy courts for relief from their debts.

This ignited a demand for reform of the U.S. bankruptcy system to better meet the problems of consumer debtors who reached the brink of bankruptcy.

The decline in bankruptcies comes at a time when the bankruptcy system is undergoing an exhaustive examination. Congress and the Supreme Court are set to consider proposals which may drastically change bankruptcy laws and court procedures.

The Commission on the Bankruptcy Laws of the United States, formed in July 1965, is scheduled to report its findings to Congress in June.

And the Supreme Court Advisory Committee on Bankruptcy Rules has proposed new procedures for consumer bankruptcies; these procedures are currently awaiting action by the Court.

Also, a Bangor, Maine, bankruptcy court has launched an innovative plan of debt rehabilitation for insolvent wage earners, coordinated with community social services for their families.

And a respected independent research institution has recommended taking consumer bankruptcies out of the courtroom altogether.

The Brookings Institution in late 1971 completed a seven-year study of the bankruptcy system.

Entitled "Bankruptcy: Problem, Process, Reform," it would withdraw from bankruptcy courts all responsibility for consumer bankruptcy and create instead an independent administrative agency within the Executive Branch to handle personal bankruptcies.

Out of this scrutiny emerges a surprising new picture of the typical family facing bankruptcy.

Contrary to prevailing common knowledge, the bulk of personal bankruptcies is not caused by poor money management.

The swashbuckler who carelessly plunders to unnecessary credit purchases to "keep up with the Jones" is the most identifiable, but not the usual, candidate for bankruptcy.

Based on in-depth analysis of actual consumer bankruptcy cases over the past two years, a startling 89% of all personal insolvencies in the court of Bangor Bankruptcy Referee Conrad K. Cyr are due to external causes—beyond the management or control of the consumer.

Who is going bankrupt? Typically, the husband is 31 years old, a high school graduate, who works for about $200 a month net income. The wife is 27 years old and has a tenth or twelfth grade education, but probably does not hold a job outside the home. They usually have two children.

The principal causes of consumer bankruptcy are unemployment or underemployment (such as loss of overtime pay) and major health or accident expenses not covered by insurance. Such disruptions of family finances are not readily predictable and may not be the result of legal failings of the debtor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. were both 47 years old when they petitioned for bankruptcy in 1971.

A burly, heavy set veteran of World War II with an eighth grade education, Mr. E. is an unskilled laborer at a Maine utility company. He does not take a dominant voice in family affairs due to his non-verbal nature and sheer exhaustion after work.

Mrs. E., who is from a large Scandinavian farm family and is a capable homemaker, takes charge of the family's financial matters and stretches her husband's paycheck into a threadbare but adequate life for the two young children and their two youngest children live in a modest five-room house.

The family's financial troubles began in 1968 when Mr. E. was involved in an accident with the family car, putting him out of work for nearly nine months and incurring $1,100 of hospital expenses.

The hospitalization plan didn't cover the medical bill and under the hospital expenses—plus workmen's compensation covered only the first 14 weeks of his absence from the job.

The family was unaware of government benefits which might have eased the financial strain on their tight budget.

By the end of 1970, their back food and fuel bills—had sunk the family more than $3,000 in debt—beyond their capacity to pay.

The Bangor bankruptcy court set up a Wage-Earners, or Chapter XIII, plan, enabling him to repay his debts through a trustee over a three-year period without creditor pressure.

It stopped the mounting interest charges on his unpaid debt, provided credit counseling and referred the family to appropriate community agencies for further assistance.

Since Bankruptcy Referee Cyr and Chapter XIII Trustee Edward A. Matheson initiated the new rehabilitation program in Bangor's wage-earner cases, the rate of failure—those who quit court-supervised payments before their debts are cleared—has dropped from 60% to less than 10%.

Nationally, only about 15% of all personal bankruptcies go under the wage-earner plan, where the consumer arranges to repay his just debts rather than having them discharged.

The remaining 85% are straight bankruptcies, in which the family loses whatever assets it has, except those exempt under state and federal law.

Wage-earner cases that fail usually end in straight bankruptcy.

Not everyone who files bankruptcy gets the same treatment accorded Mr. and Mrs. E. in Maine. The impetus for reform of the system stems from evidence that some consumers who file bankruptcy are not getting a fair shake, largely due to inequities built into the present system.

Groundwork for the system is the Federal Bankruptcy Act of 1898, passed at a time when personal credit for consumer purchases was virtually unknown.

The act was intended to deal with the problems of insolvent business, not consumers. And despite more than 100 amendments since the turn of the century this emphasis has not changed.

The act established a system of bankruptcy courts among the states—funded by fees added on top of the debts of bankrupt firms and consumers.

It allows each state to make its own interpretation of the federal law. The result has been the evolution of 50 different sets of bankruptcy laws and wide disparity in debtor treatment among the 50 states.

For example, all states exempt some of a debtor's belongings from straight bankruptcy settlements. Most Eastern states favor creditors by allowing few exemptions of value. Many Western states, however, are much more favorable to people in debt.

Texas even exempts a family's homestead, regardless of its value.

The situation has been aggravated over the past quarter century due to the skyrocketing volume of consumer credit and accompanying rise in consumer bankruptcies.

Business insolvencies now comprise only 10% of the bankruptcy caseload, and yet bankruptcy referees are forced to adapt the 1898 commercial bankruptcy law in the context of today's consumer credit economy.

The high level of employment, business expansion and government spending during World War II sent bankruptcies to an all-time low after they reached a peak of 70,049 in 1932, the depth of the Depression.

In 1946, the first year of post-war prosperity, only 10,196 bankruptcies were filed—$356 by consumers and 1,630 by businesses.

Since then, however, consumer business bankruptcies have risen in parallel with the nation's population, consumer credit spending and business activity—dramatically upward.

Gov. Walker Sustaining His People-to-People Contact

By KEN WATSON

Copley News Service

Springfield — Governor Walker's winning—as of now.

That's the Statehouse view of the popularity contest matching Gov. Dan Walker and the Illinois legislature.

The governor-legislature split—confirmed and widened by the Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) issue—has spread far beyond Springfield and is being waged statewide.

Democratic and Republican lawmakers, most of whom are equally at odds with Walker, concede that he is retaining a high popularity with the man-on-the-street.

Walker's flying trips about the state, often to rarely visited smaller cities, are allowing him to sustain the people-to-people contact he developed during his walking tours.

Legislators, many of whom are annoyed at attacks by their governor in their own district, complain that the average citizen pays little attention to specific issues in the legislature, but are flattered by the seemingly personal attention paid them by the new governor.

As he did in the primary and general election campaigns of last year, Walker is riding and exploiting a tide of grassroots dissatisfaction with the traditional political establishment.

The situation is especially to his benefit in Illinois where the stunning series of convictions, of once highly respected and popular political figures like former Gov. Otto Kerner and former Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett.

Walker is also aided in his personal feel with the legislature by the level of public esteem at which that body finds itself.

Legislators admit they can do little about this, but they are not about ready to forfeit the game to the governor.

They contend that Walker's success in the popularity contest is not being matched by his performance as governor.

At the Capitol, career workers in government agencies, Walker has so far accomplished virtually nothing as governor and the prospects are for a long deadlock with the legislature, they say.

What initiative there has been so far in this administration has come almost solely from the lawmakers. It is asserted.

Walker critics contend that his shortcomings as governor will sooner or later work the state government into crisis and that then his bubble of popularity will burst. But, even if true, this is likely to take some time.

BOOSTER CLUB KICKOFF FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor:

Anyone who can remember reading of the historical events during the Civil War between the North and the South will probably hear words to that effect with the opening of the new Granite City High School/North.

Many thanks should be given to teachers, coaches, administration, taxpayers, etc., for the work done in anticipation of the new school.

To be a complete success, pride and enthusiasm have to play a big part in the school's development. This pride will definitely be an asset to teachers, students, athletes and to the community itself.

Let's have a big turnout April 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Grigsby Junior High for a GCHS/North Boosters Club kickoff meeting.

COMMENT ON ELECTION OF NEW MAYOR—HOORAY!

To the Editor:

Hoors! The election is over and Don Partney was beaten almost on a 2 to 1 basis. Now he can go back to his million-dollar sheetmetal works where perhaps he can buy them.

He certainly was a mayor who never was wrong, and if you didn't play his way he would take his ball and bat and go home.

I do not know Paul Schuler but I certainly admire him for his little or no mud-slinging. Even the Post-Dispatch on April 1

Drink from Flask Proves Costly

APRIL 9, 1923

One drink of whiskey from a flask cost a 25-year-old Madison man $17. He met four men on Third Street and was invited to partake of the liquor. He couldn't turn down the offer, he told police; but after he took one swallow, two of the men began searching him. He resisted and was struck on the forehead, suffering a slight cut. His assailants ran away after getting all of his money.

Township Now Has Two Attorneys

APRIL 9, 1948

Due to a surprise move by electors at the annual Granite City Town meeting, there are now two attorneys—John B. Harris, re-appointed by the board of auditors, and George Moran, chosen by the electors.

noted the mud-slinging—more than a full column noting it.

Now I hope the aldermen clean up a few alleys. I doubt if there are any dirtier alleys in town than the ones between St. John Cemetery and 26th Street and also Ralph Street.

Let's not only clean up the present mess but make periodic checks to see that they are kept clean, Mr. Alderman.

WOMAN VOTER

RESTORATION OF LOCAL HOMES is receiving increasing emphasis as a means of preserving historic aspects of Granite City neighborhoods and providing spacious, economical, attractive dwellings. This photo was taken in the 65-year-old home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack French, 2230 Cleveland Blvd. Artificial brick has been installed above an existing fireplace to provide a full-length brick wall, which has been decorated with a guitar filled with sprigs of ivy and with several artifacts of the past. Light blue wallpaper conveys an effect of antiqued wood paneling.

Many Qualified Candidates for School District Nine Board

Granite City Community Unit School District Nine residents will choose Saturday between ten candidates for two positions on the Board of Education. The list includes many who could be an asset on the seven-member board.

Both rural area candidates are impressive. Under the rules of the ballot, at least one of them will be declared elected—and both are eligible to serve if they are the top two in the voting.

One of those referred to is Carl Macios, a valuable member of the board for seven years and the current board president; a McDonnell-Douglas engineer, he was elected last week as assessor of Nameoki Township, a compatible office.

The other rural candidate, Norman Hall, Illinois Power Co. sales supervisor, is a past Kiwanis and Maryville PTA president. We have high regard for the ability and energy he has shown in a wide range of community service activities.

Capable urban school board candidates include Jack Sollberger, a Granite City Steel Co. systems analyst, and Richard Fry, American Steel Foundries accounting and storeroom supervisor and assistant supply agent, who served on the City Council in 1965-69.

Mixed Reaction to Bi-State Agency Board Ouster Agreement

Missouri commissioners' decision to resign from the Bi-State Development Agency is being received here with mixed emotions. It could trigger a similar situation among the five Illinois members.

New Governor Bond of Missouri had sought to oust the five representatives of that state, and had appointed replacements for them prior to yesterday's compromise, which was made to avoid a legal fight.

Under the agreement, the resignations will be accepted on a staggered basis over the next six months to provide a limited degree of continuity.

New Governor Walker of Illinois may be similarly inclined, although he has avoided saying this directly.

The financial squeeze that has threatened a total shutdown of the bus system operated by Bi-State perhaps has caused a loss of public confidence. The agency is successfully operating the Granite City wharf, Parks Airport at Cahokia and the Gateway Arch transportation system.

Despite public concern over the woes of the bus system, a court test of the board shakeup would have been welcome.

It would have shown whether displeasure with performance is a sufficient basis to instantaneously rid agencies of commissioners who have been appointed by several past governors to five-year terms expiring in different years.

Citizenship of E. A. Friedman a Model for All to Emulate

As we noted in our Madison Diamond Jubilee edition in 1966, the life of E. A. "Mannie" Friedman had spanned every decade of Madison history.

He was born in the 1890s, the same period when the village was established; Madison switched to the city form of government in 1942, the year after a 50th year celebration whose executive committee included Mr. Friedman.

His death March 31 ended a long and distinguished business career and equally impressive voluntary service. The World War I Infantry officer led Madison civil defense in World War II. A Legionnaire and Mason for spans exceeding 50 years, he was a 48-year charter Madison Rotarian.

A former practicing attorney, Mr. Friedman operated a thriving furniture and hardware business for more than 51 years.

He headed National Recovery Act assistance in Madison during the depression of the 1930s, and was active in church, school and scouting programs. Although not a controversial figure, he was never afraid to make his views known when public issues arose.

It is because of men like Emanuel Friedman that Madison—and communities everywhere—are able to function with progress and advance the quality of life.

Malone-Cuchna Nuptials At St. Louis Cathedral

Miss Carole Lenn Cuchna, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Michael Cuchna, 1617 Lindell Blvd., and Mark John Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Malone, Philadelphia, Pa., exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony Friday at the St. Louis Old Cathedral, 209 Walnut St., St. Louis.

Arrangements of white flowers decorated the altar for the double ring service performed by the Rev. John Lang and the Rev. David Bruce Maxton. The latter is pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church in Granite City.

Prior to the arrival of the wedding party the church organist played "Ave Maria" and The Lord's Prayer. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory silk organza gown over peau de soie, Venise lace encrusted with pearls accented the Empire waistline and extended to the hem of the A-line skirt, ending in a chapel-length train. Tiny cap sleeves and a high standing neckline were similarly edged with pearl beaded lace.

A tiara headpiece of pearls and crystals secured the waist-

Burglary Protective Measures Explained; Iota Psi Elects

Patrolman Roy Koberna, community relations officer for the Granite City Police Department, explained "Operation Identification" to members of Iota Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority at a meeting last week. An election of officers also was conducted.

Members met in the home of Mrs. Marty Herman, 2319 Zippel Ave., to hear the police officer and view a movie designed to acquaint householders with security measures against intruders.

Officer Koberna also explained procedures for obtaining and using engraving tools available to local residents on loan from the police department.

The tools are used to inscribe an individual's driver's license number on valuable possessions, thus enabling quick identification in the event the items are stolen and later recovered, the policeman said.

Named to head the Iota Psi Chapter in 1972-74 was Mrs. JoAnn Kallet. She succeeds in office Mrs. Joyce Corey, who presided at last week's session.

Other new officers elected, are: Mrs. Barbara Painter, vice-president; Mrs. Joyce Corey, extension officer; Mrs. Carla Ashmore, secretary; and Mrs. Herman, treasurer.

A dessert course was served by the hostess to those mentioned and to Mrs. Carol Cathey, Mrs. JoAnn Macios, Mrs. Sally Stegelmeyer, Mrs. P. A. Winters, Miss Jane Davis and Mrs. Lois Mullen, who received a prize during the evening.

Arrangements were completed for a potluck dinner April 17 at the home of Mrs. Gerry Mendez and a mother-daughter banquet May 15 at Temple's Smorgasbord on Johnson Road.

The club's next project will be preparation of "poly-poly" ducts to be donated to the Tiny Tim Nursery School. Proposed candidates for state offices were chosen and the names forwarded to the state nominating committee. An election is planned next fall.

Mrs. Grapas provided the program, showing movies of her trip to Europe last summer, and served refreshments.

Medames Mary Modica, Joyce Albers, Barbara Orris, Carol Grimm, Pat Lalich, Carole Poole and those named.

Former Resident Speaks in Mexico

Mrs. Joyce M. Parker, a former Granite City resident and wife of the Rev. Lowell B. Parker of Phoenix, Ariz., has completed an appearance on the program of the first national and second inter-American Personnel Training and Development Congress held in Mexico City, Mexico.

"Non-Traditional Approaches in Developing Human Resources" was the subject of her lecture to the congress. Participants represented 10 countries, including Peru, Brazil, Venezuela, Costa Rica and Spain, and simultaneous translations were used throughout the conference.

Mrs. Parker presented several mementos from the State of Arizona to congress officials and was interviewed at length by a representative of a Mexico City television station during her visit.

She is current president of the Valley of the Sun Chapter, Inc., National American Society for Training and Development, and is employed by the State Compensation Fund of Arizona as the training and development administrator.

Mina R. Genard Is Bride-to-Be

From Collegeville, Pa., comes news of the engagement of Miss Mina R. Genard, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Genard Jr., 230 Eighth Ave., who formerly resided at 2323 State St., to Joseph Nicholas Machion.

The prospective bridegroom is a son of Nicholas J. Machion, of Michaels Lane and DeKalb, Norristown, Pa., and the late Mrs. Catherine (Morgan) Machion.

Learning Basic Safety Rules Can Reduce Danger, CD Officials Say

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

If tornado history is any guide, at least 10 potentially lethal tornadoes could touch down in Illinois this year... and the bulk of them in the months ahead.

Illinois ranks among the states first in the number of tornado deaths. Five last year alone, and rank second in dollar amount of tornado damage.

Illinois Civil Defense Director Val Oshel has asked Governor Dan Walker to declare April as "Disaster Preparedness Month" in Illinois as in previous years.

Furthermore, Oshel has requested all civil defense organizations in Illinois, numbering over 350 separate groups, to join in disaster preparedness programs during the month of April.

In addition to the threat of tornadoes, each spring citizens of the state are threatened by high winds, severe storms and flooding. CD officials noted.

In observance of Disaster Preparedness Month the Granite City Civil Defense is planning to review its disaster plans and recheck all emergency equipment, supplies and manpower.

Victor H. Koenig, Granite City Civil Defense Director, said safety tips for tornado safety and flash floods are available from the Civil Defense Center at 1411 Nineteenth St.

"Most people are not aware of the difference between a 'tornado watch' and a 'tornado warning,'" Koenig pointed out. "Tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are not always preceded by the issuance of tornado watches or severe thunderstorm watches because forecasting has not yet been developed to that point."

The director said, "The Watch tells people to get their business, but to keep an eye on the sky and in touch with weather statements and warnings issued by the National Weather Service. The Watch means that weather conditions are just right for a tornado to spawn."

"The Warning tells people of an actual sighting or an indication by radar and urges those in the danger path to prepare to take immediate cover for protection," Koenig continued.

According to the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City there were 744 tornadoes reported in 1972, most of them in the southern states.

Although this number is 85 more than the 659 yearly average for 1953 through 1972, there were few "family" outbreaks and few super tornadoes.

Even though the 1972 total was a record low, there were 986 tornado injuries in 29 states, along with about $143 million in property damage. Only eight states were free of tornadoes during the year.

The last "super tornado" occurred on Palm Sunday in April 1965, when 47 tornadoes swept through five midwestern states, including Illinois, killing 247 people and injuring more than 1,500.

The worst single twister on record, the tri-state tornado of 1925, churned 200 miles through Missouri, Illinois and Indiana, killing 689 people in a three-hour period.

Houses hit by tornadoes literally explode, CD officials point out. The wind scatters the debris like shrapnel with an upward motion that sometimes carries heavy objects hundreds of yards.

Typical time of occurrence is a warm, sultry day between 4 and 6 p.m., but tornadoes can occur at all hours of the day and night... and in all months of the year.

Weather Service explained that despite radar, satellites and other sophisticated instruments used by forecasters, the human eye still is the only reliable means of detecting tornadoes.

Illinois residents are asked to call the nearest local police, sheriff or state police office upon sighting a funnel cloud.

Knowledge of a few tornado safety rules could spell the difference between life and death for anyone... anywhere. CD officials stated, and the following precautionary rules should be observed at all times.

A tornado "watch" means a weather conditions are ripe for tornadoes to develop. Stay tuned to radio or television and listen for weather bulletins, even if the sky overhead is blue.

A storm may appear suddenly. Occasionally scan the horizon for the approach of dark, threatening clouds. There may not be time for an official tornado warning.

Stay alert for the abrupt onset of violent wind, rain, hail or a funnel-shaped cloud. Listen for a sudden increase in wind noise. When in doubt, take cover. Tornadoes frequently are obscured by rain or dust and some occur at night.

A tornado "warning" means a tornado actually has been sighted or indicated by radar within the specific region. If the twister is nearby, seek inside shelter immediately. Preferably a storm cellar, underground excavation, or steel-framed or concrete-reinforced building.

It is important to stay away from windows.

In office buildings—go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, or to a designated shelter area.

In factories—workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

In homes—the basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under heavy furniture. If possible, in homes without basements, take cover in the central part of the house on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. If possible, in homes without basements, take cover in the central part of the house on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture.

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to destructive winds. Proper tie-downs to prevent overturning will minimize damage. A warden should be appointed in mobile home parks to watch the skies and listen to radio and television for warnings.

There should be a designated community shelter where residents can assemble during a tornado warning. If there is no such shelter, persons are advised not to stay in a mobile home when a tornado is approaching. Seek refuge in a sturdy shelter, such as a basement, in a ditch, culvert or ravine.

In schools—wherever possible, follow advance plans to an interior hallway or the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide free-span roofs.

If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

In open country—if there is not time to find suitable shelter, lie flat on the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine, and protect your head with your arms.
